Submit
Links
Mailing List

Archives

Search

Site   The Web

Our Journal seeks to provide an electronic forum for university students to exchange ideas, arguments and information related to the new field of cyberphilosophy. Submissions in relevant areas including metaphysics (e.g., the nature of the online self, the development of virtual communities, technology versus nature), gender issues, artificial intelligence, computer ethics and socio-political philosophy (e.g., online democracy, universal access, creation of global village) are highly encouraged.

Essays

"Reality"
> by Candace Anderson

"Identity Theft: How secure is our information?"
> by Stacey Elgren

"The Impact of the Internet on our Daily Life"
> by Markus Temmel, Martina Theuermann, Eva Ukowitz, and Tanja Vogrin

"Online Communities"
> by Mathias Mueller, Bernhard Mueller, Sandra Murg, and Michael Neuhaeusel

Articles

"Hacking - Pro & Contra"
> by Matthias Tappauf

"An E-mail Interview With Vint Cerf"
> Jeff McLaughlin

Article Reviews

"Philosophical Review of Being John Malkovich"
> by Royce Welsh