Corporate Management Structure of Large Malaysian Construction Companies

KAMARUZAMAN JUSOFF

Abstract

Corporate management structure is crucial for the understanding of corporate governance. Companies will have their own structure of corporate management. The environment and their planning and control mode will have an impact on way they do things daily, monthly and yearly. Learning the structure that suited most for different types of organisation would then be important and fruitful for any part that are related or affected by it. The aim of this study is to explore the parent company of large construction companies managing their local subsidiaries in Malaysia. This study is based on survey of the Malaysian contractors and aims to identify the corporate management
