

What's fair in funding indigenous health care? We don't know, but isn't it time we did?

Gavin Mooney,
Curtin University
and University of Sydney

ABSTRACT

There are various different ways of looking at equity in the context of the funding of indigenous health care. This paper argues for adopting an approach which incorporates notions of capacity to benefit, vertical equity and communitarian claims. Whatever decision is eventually reached on

