Title: Juvenile delinquency - a social-economical problem

Author(s): Ramona Mihaela Urziceanu:

Keywords: juvenile delinquency, minors, poor economical situation, social problem, prevents.

Abstract:

The determinant causes of the juvenile delinquency can not be entered in amagic formula, but the main element, which influences and determines the outcomeof these conducts it's represented, in this moment, by the extinguish of the social,economical, professional and cultural inequity. The subtile or evident forms of thesocial expelation seeszes for a lot of aspects: restricting the acces or even theabsence of some means or opportunities, the inequity of chances in theeducational and professional domain, the discrimination that some social groupsare obliged to take, especiially because of the economic criteeria. All of theseelements are in a tight relationship and determines the minors to conducts ofsocial risk: runnig from home, educational abandon, the option for suburbs groupsas life adapting or succeeding „solutions”. From this point of view there isn't anobligatory and direct corelationship between poorness and criminality gennerallyspeaking and among the juvenile delinquency, especially, but the effects of aneconomically and cultural poor situation are the hidden substract of the illegalconducts.
