

Perspectives on Sexual and Reproductive Health
Volume 40, Number 1, March 2009

VIEWPOINT

Abortion Access for Incarcerated Women: Are Correctional Health Practices in Conflict With Constitutional Standards

By Diana Kasdan

Perspectives on Sexual and Reproductive Health, 2009, 41(1): 59-62

DOI: 10.1111/j.1931-2393.2009.04115909.x

DOI:10.1363/4105909

Full text in PDF

Full-featured version available to subscribers

Personal subscribers should contact Wiley customer service with any questions related to their online access. Phone: 1 (800) 835-6770 or E-mail: cs-journals@wiley.com.

- » table of contents
- » search the PSRH archive
- » guidelines for authors

Diana Kasdan is staff attorney, American Civil Liberties Union Foundation, Reproductive Freedom Project, New York.