19th International Conference Advanced Batteries, Accumulators and Fuel Cells [ABAF 19th]

August 26th - 29th, 2018
 Brno University of Technology
 Antonínská 1, Brno
 Czech Republic

Welcome to the ABAF 19th conference, focused on modern batteries and electrochemical technologies!

The International Conference "Advanced Batteries, Accumulators and Fuel Cells 19th" will be organized from August 26th to August 29th, 2017 in Brno, Czech Republic.

The conference will be co-sponsored by the International Society of Electrochemistry (ISE - competition for the best poster among young scientists) and the Electrochemical Society (ECS - publication in the ECS Transactions magazine). In 2018, the ABAF conference has become a satellite meeting of the 69th annual ISE Conference in Bologna.

The Conference language is English.

Main fields of interest of this year's conference are the research and development of materials designated for modern electrochemical power sources, new investigations in the fields of materials research, applied electrochemistry, corrosion, preparation and properties of nanomaterial structures, non conventional sources of electrical energy including photovoltaic systems, ionic liquids for power sources and their properties, replacement of lithium by sodium in batteries, electrochromism and practical use of electrochemical power sources including their application. As a new topic, special electrochemical technologies will be added.

Conference will be held in the main building (Rectory Office) of the Brno University of Technology, Brno, Antonínská 1.

Conference registration is open here.
