

Finite element analysis based on heterogeneous models

<http://www.firstlight.cn> 2003-04-22

A heterogeneous mathematical model (elastic body - Timoshenko shell) has been applied for the analysis of some elastic structures. The boundary and variational formulation of the heterogeneous mathematical problem are presented. Bubble functions — Finite Element Method — have been applied for the numerical analysis.

存档文本