Agricultural land market in select regions of the S Republic

Agric. Econ. – Czech, 49 (2 194

One of the conditions of access of Slovakia into the European Union is the existence of a developed land market. At present, the official land price is not used in the evaluation of agricultural land. The price was calculated on the basis of normative production and not required to achieve such pro the land market gradually de market prices come into beir the effect of real market force full-fledged market prices, th official prices will be just an i one. The land market prices assume all the tasks of the c prices of the agricultural lanc
