

The EU-OSHA website uses cookies to gather information necessary for browsing the website, in accordance with the EU-OSHA privacy notice.

OK, I agreeDeclineNo, give me more info

Publications

27/09/2004

E-fact 1 - Musculoskeletal disorders in construction

Musculoskeletal disorders are some of the most common forms of ill health in construction. Musculoskeletal disorders are particularly prevalent across a range of Construction industry trades with estimates suggesting that as many as 30% of the workforce may be affected. Recent research has indicated that musculoskeletal disorders are particularly prevalent in certain construction trades or occupational groups such as bricklayers, plasterers and joiners.

Download in: EN

Related publications

07/12/2018

“Healthy workers, thriving companies - a practical guide to wellbeing at work”

Download in: EN

28/05/2014

E-Fact 80: Hazard Identification Checklist: Occupational Safety and Health (OSH) risks in the wind energy sector

Download in: EN | ES | IT | PT

28/05/2014

E-fact 79: Occupational safety and health in the wind energy sector

Download in: EN | PT