

[\[Print Version\]](#)

The Angle Orthodontist: Vol. 4, No. 4, pp. 285–304.

The Hypophysis and the Teeth¹

IV. Dental Changes in a Hypopituitary Condition. A Case Report.²

Isaac Schour, B.S., D.D.S., M.S., Ph.D.;^a Allan G. Brodie, D.D.S., M.S.;^a Ernest Q. King, M.D., Ph.D.^a

^aFrom the Departments of Histology and of Graduate Orthodontia, College of Dentistry, University of Illinois and the Department of Medicine, University of Chicago

ABSTRACT

No Abstract Available.

¹ This is the final essay of the series published in successive issues of The Angle Orthodontist, Volume IV

* This work was in part supported by the John D. Hertz Fund of the University of Chicago.