*Editor's Note: The tragic death, by earthquake, of Dr. James C. Angle, took from our specialty a young man of highest ideals, brilliant scholastic ability and masterful technical skill. This paper was written by Dr. Angle in the early years of practice and read before the First Annual Meeting of the Edward H. Angle Society of Orthodontia. It was recently brought to the attention of the Editor, in manuscript form, and is now published for the first time in the belief that it contains much of practical value and is an excellent example of sound and logical reasoning.
