General Information

Hydrology Research provides international coverage on all aspects of hydrology in its widest sense, and welcomes the submission of papers from across the subject. While emphasis is placed on studies of the hydrological cycle, the Journal also covers the physics and chemistry of water.

Hydrology Research is intended to be a link between basic hydrological research and the practical application of scientific results within the broad field of water management.

Hydrology Research is an ISI-indexed peer-reviewed journal publishing high-quality papers within hydrology and water resources. The first issue of the journal was published in 1970 and it is now in its 40th Volume.
