SONGS OF TWO

BY ARTHUR SHERBURNE HARDY

SONGS OF TWO

I

Last night I dreamed this dream: That I was dead;
 And as I slept, forgot of man and God,
 That other dreamless sleep of rest,
 I heard a footstep on the sod,
 As of one passing overhead,--

And lo, thou, Dear, didst touch me on the breast,
 Saying: "What shall I write against thy name
 That men should see?"
 Then quick the answer came,
 "I was beloved of thee."

II

Dear Giver of Thyself when at thy side,
 I see the path beyond divide,
 Where we must walk alone a little space,
 I say: "Now am I strong indeed
 To wait with only memory awhile,
 Content, until I see thy face,--"
 Yet turn, as one in sorest need,
 To ask once more thy giving grace,
 So, at the last
 Of all our partings, when the night
 Has hidden from my failing sight
 The comfort of thy smile,
 My hand shall seek thine own to hold it fast;
 Nor wilt thou think for this the heart ingrate,
 Less glad for all its past,
 Less strong to bear the utmost of its fate.

III

As once through forest shade I went,
 I heard a flower call, and bent--
 Then strove to go. Should love not spare?
 "Nay, Dearest, this is love's sweet share
 Of selfishness. For which is best,
 To die alone or on thy breast?
 If thou hast heard my call,
 Take fearlessly, thou art my guest--
 To give is all"
 Hush! O Love, thou casuist!

IV

Ask me not why,--I only know,
 It were thy loss if I could show
 Thee cause as for a lesser thing.
 Remember how we searched the spring,
 But found no source,--so clear the sky
 Within its earth bound depths did lie,
 Give to thy joy its wings,
 And to thy heart its song, nor try
 With questionings
 The throbbing throat that sings.

V

For in thy clear and steadfast eyes
 Thine own self wonder deepest lies,
 Nor any words that lips can teach
 Are sweeter than their wonder speech.
 And when thou givest them to me,
 Through dawns of tenderness I see,--
 As in the water-sky,
 The sun of certainly appear.
 So, ask me why,
 For then thou knowest, Dear.

VI

To give is more than to receive, men say.
 But thou hast made them one! What if, some day,
 Men bade me render back the gifts I cannot pay,--
 Since all were undeserved! should I obey?
 Lo, all these years of giving, when we try
 To own our thanks, we hear the giver cry;
 "Nay, it was thou who givest, Dear, not I."
 If Wisdom smile, let Wisdom go!
 All things above
 This is the truest; that we know because we love,
 Not love because we know.

VII

Let it not grieve thee, Dear, that Love is sad,
 Who, changeless, loveth so the things that change,--
 The morning in thine eyes, the dusk within thy hair,
 Were it not strange
 If he were glad
 Who cannot keep thy heart from care,
 Or shelter from the whip of pain
 The bosom where his head hath lain?
 Poor sentinel, that may not guard
 The door that love itself unbarred!
 Who in the sweetness
 Of his service knows its incompleteness,
 And while he sings
 Of life eternal, feels the coldness of Death's wings.

VIII

Stoop with me, Dearest, to the grass
 One little moment ere we pass
 From out these parched and thirsty lands,
 See! all these tiny blades are hands
 Stretched supplicating to the sky,
 And listen, Dearest, patiently,--
 Dost thou not hear them move?
 The myriad roots that search, and cry

As hearts do, Love,
"Feed us, or let us die!"

IX

Beloved, when far up the mountain side
We found, almost at eventide,
Our spring, how far we did fear
Lest it should dare the trackless wood
And disappear!
And lost all heart when on the crest we stood
And saw it spent in mist below!
Yet ever surer was its flow,
And, ever gathering to its own
New springs of which we had not known,
To fairer meadows
Swept exultant from the woodland shadows;
And when at last upon the baffling plain
We thought it scattered like a ravelled skein,--
Lo, tranquil, free,
Its longed-for home, the wide unfathomable sea!

X

Thy names are like sweet flowers that grow
Within a garden where I go,
Sometimes at dawn, to see each one
Life its head proudly in the sun;
Sometimes at night,
When only by the fragrant air,
I know them there.
And none are grieved or think I slight
Their worth, if closest to my breast,
This one I take which holds within its own
Each single fragrance of the rest,--
My friend, my friend!
And as I loved it first alone,
So shall I love it to the end,
For none were half so dear were it not best.

XI

My every purpose fashioned by some thought of thee,
Though as a feather's weight that shapes the arrow's flight it be; No single joy complete in which thou bust, no fee,
Though thy share be the star and mine its shadow in the sea; Thy very pulse my pulse, thy every prayer my prayer.
Thy love my blue o'erreaching sky that bounds me everywhere,-- Yet free, Beloved, free! for this encircling air
I cannot leave behind, doth but love's boundlessness declare.

XII

Last night the angel of remembrance brought
 Me while I slept--think, Dear! of all his store
 Just that one memory I thought
 Banished forever from our door!
 Thy sob of pain when once I hurt thee sure.
 Then in my dream I suddenly was ware
 Of God above me saying: "Reach
 Thy hand to Me in prayer,
 And I will give thee pardon yet."
 Thou? Nay, she hath forgiven, teach
 Her to forget.

XIII

Love me not, Dearest, for the smile,
 The tender greeting, or the wile
 By which, unconscious of its road,
 My soul seeks thine in its abode;
 Nor say "I love thee of thine eyes,--"
 For when Death shuts them, where thy skies?
 But love me for my love,
 Then am I safe from all surprise,
 And thou above
 The loss of all that dies.

XIV

Dear hands, forgiving hands,
 There is no speech so sure as thing.
 Lips falter with so much
 To tell, eyes fill with thoughts I scarce divine,
 But thy least touch
 Soul understands.
 Dear giving, taking hands,
 There are no gifts so free as thine.
 One last gem from the heart of the mine,
 One last cup from the veins of the vine,
 From the rose to the wind one last sweet breath,
 Then poverty, and death!
 But thy dear palms
 Are richest empty, asking alms.

XV

A little moment at the end
 Of day, left over in the candle light
 On the shore of dreams, on the edge of sleep,
 Too small to throw away,
 Too poor to keep!
 But it holds two words for thee, dear Friend,--
 Good-night, Good night!
 And so this remnant of the day,

Left over in the candle-light
 On the shore of dreams, on the edge of sleep,
 Becomes too great to throw away,
 Too dear to keep!

XVI

Beloved, when I read some fine conceit,
 Wherein are wrought as in glass
 The features love hath made so sweet,
 I marvel at so bold an art;
 Seeing thou art too dear to praise
 Upon the highway where men pass.
 For when I seek
 To tell the ways
 God's hand of tenderness
 Hath touched thine earthly part,
 Again I hear
 Thy first own cry of happiness,
 And, sweetest of God's sounds, the dear
 Remonstrance of thy giving heart,--
 And cannot speak!

XVII

Across the plain of Time
 I saw them marching all night long,--
 The endless throng
 Of all who ever dared to fight with wrong.
 All the blood their hearts, the prime
 And crown of their fleeting years,
 All the toil of their hands, the tears
 Of their eyes, the thought of their brain,
 For a word from the lips of Truth,
 For a glimpse of the scroll of Fate,
 Ere love and youth
 Were spent in vain,
 And even truth too late!
 Oh, when the Silence speaks, and the scroll
 Unrolls to the eye of the soul,
 What will it be that shall pay the cost
 Of the pain gone waste and the labor lost!
 And then, Dear, waking, I saw you---
 And knew.

XVIII

We thought when Love at last should come,
 The rose would lose its thorn,
 And every lip but Joy's be dumb
 When Love, sweet Love, was born;
 That never tears should start to rise,

No night o'ertake our morn,
 Nor any guest of grief surprise,
 When Love sweet Love, was born.

And when he came, O Heart of mine!
 And stood within our door,
 No joy our dreaming could divine
 Was missing from his store.
 The thorns shall wound our hearts again,
 But not the fear of yore,
 for all the guests of grief and pain
 Shall serve him evermore.

XIX

Dost thou remember, Dear, the day
 We met in those bare woods of May?
 Each had a secret unconfessed,
 Each sound a promise, in each nest.
 Young wings a-tremble for the air,--
 How we joined hands?--not knowing where
 The springs that touch set free
 Should find their sea.
 Speechless--so sure we were to share
 The unknown good to be.

XX

The woods are bare again. There are
 No secrets now, the bud's a scar;
 No promises,--this is the end!
 Ah, Dearest, I have seen thee bend
 Above thy flowers as one who knew
 The dying wood should bloom anew.
 Come, let us sleep, Perchance
 God's countenance,
 Like thine above thy flowers, smiles through
 The night upon us two.

VERSES MY FRIEND

I have a friend who came,--I know not how,
 Nor he. Among the crowd, apart,
 I feel the pressure of his hand, and hear
 In very truth the beating of his heart.

My soul had shut the door of abode,
 So poor it seemed for any guest
 To tarry there a night,--until he came,
 Asking, not entertainment, only rest.

Our hands were empty,-his and mine alike,

He says--until they joined. I see
 The gifts he brought; but where were mine
 That he should say "I too have need of thee?"

Without the threshold of his heart I wait
 Abashed, afraid to enter where
 So radiant a company do meet,
 Yet enter boldly, knowing I am there.
 Whether his hand shall press my latch to-night,
 To-morrow, matters not. He came
 Unsummoned, he will come again; and I,
 Though dead, shall answer to my name.

And yet, dear friend, in whom I rest content,
 Speak to me now--lest when we meet
 Where tears and hunger have no grace,
 A little word of friendship be less sweet.

ON NE BADINE PAS AVEC LA MORT

The dew was full of sun that morn
 _(Oh I heard the doves in the ladyricks coop!)_
 As he crossed the meadows beyond the corn,
 Watching his falcon in the blue.
 How could he hear my song so far,--
 The song of the blood where the pulses are!
 Straight through the fields he came to me,
 _(Oh I saw his soul as I saw the dew!)_
 But I hid my joy that he might not see,
 I hid it deep within my breast,
 As the starling hides in the maize her nest.

Back through the corn he turned again,
 _(Oh little he cared where his falcon flew!)_
 And my heart lay still in the hand of pain,
 As in winter's hand the rivers do.
 How could he hear its secret cry,
 The cry of the dove when the cummers die!
 Thrice in the maize he turned to me,
 _(Oh I saw his soul as I saw the dew!)_
 But I hid my pain that he might not see--
 I hid it deep as the grave is made,
 Where the heart that can ache no more is laid.

Last night, where grows the river grass,
 _(Oh the stream was dark though the moon was new!)_

I saw white Death with my lover pass,
 Side by side as the troopers so.
 "Give me," said Death, "thy purse well-filled,
 And thy mantle-clasp which the moonbeams gild;
 Save the heart which beats for thy dear sake,"
 _(Oh I saw my heart as I saw the dew!)_
 "All life hath given is Death's to take."
 Dear God! how can I love thy day
 If thou takest the heart that loves away!

ITER SUPREMUM

Oh, what a night for a soul to go!
 The wind a hawk, and the fields in snow;
 No screening cover of leaves in the wood,
 Nor a star abroad the way to show.

Do they part in peace, soul with its clay?
 Tenant and landlord, what do they say?
 Was it sigh of sorrow or of release
 I heard just now as the face turned gray?

What if, aghast on the shoreless main
 Of Eternity, it sought again
 The shelter and rest of the Isle of Time,
 And knocked at the door of its house of pain!

On the tavern hearth the embers glow,
 The laugh is deep and the flagons low;
 But without, the wind and the trackless sky,
 And night at the gates where a soul would go!

ON THE FLY-LEAF OF THE RUBAIYAT

Deem not this book a creed, 't is but the cry
 Of one who fears not death, yet would not die;
 Who at the table feigns with sorry jest.
 To love the wine the Master's hand has pressed,
 The while he loves the absent Master best,--
 The bitter cry of Love for love's reply!

IN AN ALBUM

Like the south-flying swallow the summer has flown,
 Like a fast-falling star, from unknown to unknown
 Life flashes and falters and fails from our sight,--
 Good-night, friends, good-night.

Like home-coming swallows that seek the old eaves,
 Like the buds that wait patient beneath the dead leaves,
 Love shall sleep in our hearts till our hands meet again, Till then, friends, till then!

WITH APRIL ARBUTUS, TO A FRIEND

Fairer than we the woods of May,
 Yet sweeter blossoms do not grow
 Than these we send you from our snow,
 Cramped are their stems by winter's cold,
 And stained their leaves with last year's mould;
 For these are flowers which fought their way
 Through ice and cold in sun and air,
 With all a soul might do and dare,
 Hope, that outlives a world's decay,
 Enduring faith that will not die,
 And love that gives, not knowing why,
 Therefore we send them unto you;
 And if they are not all your due,
 Once they have looked into your face
 Your graciousness will give them place.
 You know they were not born to bloom
 Like roses in a crowded room;
 For though courageous they are shy,
 Loving but one sweet hand and eye.
 Ah, should you take them to the rest,
 The warmth, the shelter of your breast,
 Since on the bleak
 And frozen bosom of our snows
 They dared to smile, on yours who knows
 But that they might not dare to speak!

IMMORTALITY

My window is the open sky,
 The flower in farthest wood is mine;
 I am the heir to all gone by,
 The eldest son of all the line.

And when the robbers Time and Death
 Athwart my path conspiring stand,
 I cheat them with a clod, a breath,
 And pass the sword from hand to hand!
 J. E. B.

Not all the pageant of the setting sun
 Should yield the tired eyes of man delight,
 No sweet beguiling power had stars at night
 To soothe his fainting heart when day is done,
 Nor any secret voice of benison
 Might nature own, were not each sound and sight
 The sign and symbol of the infinite,
 The prophecy of things not yet begun.
 So had these lips, so early sealed with sleep,
 No fruitful word, life no power to move
 Our deeper reverence, did we not see

How more than all he said, he was,--how, deep
 Below this broken life, he ever wove
 The finer substance of a life to be.

BY A GRAVE

Oft have I stood within the carven door
 Of some cathedral at the close of the day,
 And seen its softened splendors fade away
 From lucent pane and tessellated floor,
 As if a parting guest who comes no more,--
 Till over all silence and blackness lay,
 Then rose sweet murmurings of them that pray,
 And shone the altar lamps unseen before,
 So, Dear, as here I stand with thee alone,
 The voices of the world sound faint and far,
 The glare and glory of the moon grow dim,
 And in the stillness, what I had not known,
 I know,--a light, pure shining as a star,
 A song, uprising like a holy hymn.

DUALITY

Within me are two souls that pity each
 The other for the ends they seek, yet smile
 Forgiveness, as two friends that love the while
 The folly against which each feigns to preach.

And while one barter in the market-place,
 Or drains the cup before the tavern fire,
 The other, winged with a divine desire,
 searches the solitary wastes of space.

And if o'ercome with pleasure this one sleeps,
 The other steals away to lay its ear
 Upon some lip just cold, perchance to hear
 Those wondrous secrets which it knows--and keeps!

LULLABY

O Mary, Mother, if the day we trod
 In converse sweet the lily-fields of God,
 From earth afar arose a cry of pain,
 Would we not weep again?
 (Sings) Hush, hush, O baby mine,
 Mothers twain are surely thine,
 One of earth and One divine.

O Mary, Mother, if the day the air
 Was sweet with songs celestial, came a prayer
 From earth afar and mingled with the strain,
 Would we not pray again?

(Sings) Sleep, sleep, my baby dear,
 Mothers twain are surely near,
 One to pray and one to hear.

O Mary, Mother, if, as yesternight
 A bird sought shelter at my casement light,
 A wounded soul should flutter to thy breast,
 Wouldst thou refuse it rest?

(Sings) Sleep, darling, peacefully,
 Mary, Mother, comforts me;
 Christ, her son, hath died for thee.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as Public Domain in the US unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we usually do not keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

We are now trying to release all our eBooks one year in advance of the official release dates, leaving time for better editing. Please be encouraged to tell us about any error or corrections, even years after the official publication date.

Please note neither this listing nor its contents are final til midnight of the last day of the month of any such announcement. The official release date of all Project Gutenberg eBooks is at Midnight, Central Time, of the last day of the stated month. A preliminary version may often be posted for suggestion, comment and editing by those who wish to do so.

Most people start at our Web sites at:

<http://gutenberg.net> or
<http://promo.net/pg>

These Web sites include award-winning information about Project Gutenberg, including how to donate, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter (free!).

Those of you who want to download any eBook before announcement can get to them as follows, and just download by date. This is also a good way to get them instantly upon announcement, as the indexes our cataloguers produce obviously take a while after an announcement goes out in the Project Gutenberg Newsletter.

<http://www.ibiblio.org/gutenberg/etext03> or
<ftp://ftp.ibiblio.org/pub/docs/books/gutenberg/etext03>

Or /etext02, 01, 00, 99, 98, 97, 96, 95, 94, 93, 92, 92, 91 or 90

Just search by the first five letters of the filename you want, as it appears in our Newsletters.

Information about Project Gutenberg (one page)

We produce about two million dollars for each hour we work. The time it takes us, a rather conservative estimate, is fifty hours to get any eBook selected, entered, proofread, edited, copyright searched and analyzed, the copyright letters written, etc. Our projected audience is one hundred million readers. If the value per text is nominally estimated at one dollar then we produce $2 million dollars per hour in 2002 as we release over 100 new text files per month: 1240 more eBooks in 2001 for a total of 4000+ We are already on our way to trying for 2000 more eBooks in 2002 If they reach just 1-2% of the world's population then the total will reach over half a trillion eBooks given away by year's end.

The Goal of Project Gutenberg is to Give Away 1 Trillion eBooks! This is ten thousand titles each to one hundred million readers, which is only about 4% of the present number of computer users.

Here is the briefest record of our progress (* means estimated):

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation has been created to secure a future for Project Gutenberg into the next millennium.

We need your donations more than ever!

As of February, 2002, contributions are being solicited from people and organizations in: Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

We have filed in all 50 states now, but these are the only ones that have responded.

As the requirements for other states are met, additions to this list will be made and fund raising will begin in the additional states. Please feel free to ask to check the status of your state.

In answer to various questions we have received on this:

We are constantly working on finishing the paperwork to legally request donations in all 50 states. If your state is not listed and you would like to know if we have added it since the list you have, just ask.

While we cannot solicit donations from people in states where we are not yet registered, we know of no prohibition against accepting donations from donors in these states who approach us with an offer to donate.

International donations are accepted, but we don't know ANYTHING about how to make them tax-deductible, or even if they CAN be made deductible, and don't have the staff to handle it even if there are ways.

Donations by check or money order may be sent to:

LIMITED WARRANTY; DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES

But for the "Right of Replacement or Refund" described below, [1] Michael Hart and the Foundation (and any other party you may receive this eBook from as a PROJECT GUTENBERG-tm eBook) disclaims all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees, and [2] YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE OR

UNDER STRICT LIABILITY, OR FOR BREACH OF WARRANTY OR CONTRACT, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES, EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES.

If you discover a Defect in this eBook within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending an explanatory note within that time to the person you received it from. If you received it on a physical medium, you must return it with your note, and such person may choose to alternatively give you a replacement copy. If you received it electronically, such person may choose to alternatively give you a second opportunity to receive it electronically.

THIS EBOOK IS OTHERWISE PROVIDED TO YOU "AS-IS". NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, ARE MADE TO YOU AS TO THE EBOOK OR ANY MEDIUM IT MAY BE ON, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A ## PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

Some states do not allow disclaimers of implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of consequential damages, so the above disclaimers and exclusions may not apply to you, and you may have other legal rights.

INDEMNITY

You will indemnify and hold Michael Hart, the Foundation, and its trustees and agents, and any volunteers associated with the production and distribution of Project Gutenberg-tm texts harmless, from all liability, cost and expense, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following that you do or cause: [1] distribution of this eBook, [2] alteration, modification, or addition to the eBook, or [3] any Defect.

DISTRIBUTION UNDER "PROJECT GUTENBERG-tm"

You may distribute copies of this eBook electronically, or by disk, book or any other medium if you either delete this

"Small Print!" and all other references to Project Gutenberg, or:

[1] Only give exact copies of it. Among other things, this requires that you do not remove, alter or modify the eBook or this "small print!" statement. You may however, if you wish, distribute this eBook in machine readable binary, compressed, mark-up, or proprietary form, including any form resulting from conversion by word processing or hypertext software, but only so long as *EITHER*:

[*] The eBook, when displayed, is clearly readable, and does **not** contain characters other than those intended by the author of the work, although tilde (~), asterisk (*) and underline ( _ ) characters may be used to convey punctuation intended by the author, and additional characters may be used to indicate hypertext links; OR

[*] The eBook may be readily converted by the reader at no expense into plain ASCII, EBCDIC or equivalent form by the program that displays the eBook (as is the case, for instance, with most word processors); OR

[*] You provide, or agree to also provide on request at no additional cost, fee or expense, a copy of the eBook in its original plain ASCII form (or in EBCDIC or other equivalent proprietary form).

[2] Honor the eBook refund and replacement provisions of this "Small Print!" statement.

[3] Pay a trademark license fee to the Foundation of 20% of the gross profits you derive calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. If you don't derive profits, no royalty is due. Royalties are payable to "Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation" the 60 days following each date you prepare (or were legally required to prepare) your annual (or equivalent periodic) tax return. Please contact us beforehand to let us know your plans and to work out the details.

WHAT IF YOU *WANT* TO SEND MONEY EVEN IF YOU DON'T HAVE TO? Project Gutenberg is dedicated to increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine readable form.

The Project gratefully accepts contributions of money, time, public domain materials, or royalty free copyright licenses. Money should be paid to the:
"Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation."
