Research Scholars

Beurton, Peter (Dr. rer. nat. 1973 [biology], Dipl. 1977 [philosophy] Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, habil. phil. 1987 [philosophy] Universität Potsdam), at the Institute since September 1994. Area of work: Research strategies in biological evolutionary theory; modern darwinism and the philosophy of science.

Bödeker, Katja (Dipl. 1998 [psychology]), at the institute since 1999. Area of work: Qualitative physics, cognitive models of science, philosophy of psychology.

Brandt, Christina (Dr. rer. nat. 2002 [history of science] Technische Universität Braunschweig), at the Institute as research scholar since June 2003. Area of work: On the history of cloning: A comparative analysis of biomedical research in Germany from 1950 to 2000.

Bührig, Claudia (Dipl.-Ing. 1991 [architecture] Technische Universität Hannover, Dr. des. 2002 [architecture] Brandenburgische Technische Universität), at the Institute since November 2002. Area of work: Epistemic history of architecture.

Castagnetti, Giuseppe ([philosophy and history] University of Milano), at the Institute from October 1997 to September 2002 and since April 2003. Area of work: History of institutions of physics in the 20th century; political and social context of Albert Einstein's activities in Berlin.

Casties, Robert (Dipl. 1998 [physics] Universität Hamburg, Dr. phil. nat. 2002 [history and philosophy of science] Universität Bern), at the Institute since January 2002. Area of work: Information technology project.

Damerow, Peter (Dr. 1977 [mathematics] Universität Bielefeld, habil. 1994 [philosophy] Universität Konstanz), at the Institute since January 1997. Area of work: History of science and education, individual and historical development of cognition, genesis of writing and arithmetic, history of mathematics and physics in ancient and early modern period.

Daston, Lorraine (A. B. 1973 Harvard University, Dipl. 1974 University of Cambridge, Ph. D. 1979 [history of science] Harvard University), at the Institute since July 1995. Area of work: History of probability theory and statistics; history of scientific objectivity; attention and observation in natural history, 16th–19th cs.

Dierig, Sven (Dipl. 1990 [biology], Dr. rer. nat 1995 [neurobiology] Universität Konstanz), at the Institute since July 1997. Area of work: Urbanization, industrialization, and the place of experiment in 19th century physiology; the virtual institute for physiology.

Fend, Mechthild (M. A. 1988 Universität Hamburg, Dr. phil. 1998 [art history] Goethe-Universität Frankfurt/M.), at the Institute since September 2001. Area of work: History and representation of skin in 18th and 19th century France.

Fuchs, Brian (B. A. 1979; M. Phil. 1983 Yale University); Instructor, Bard College (1988–1989), at the Institute since November 1999. Area of work: Project “Archimedes”.

Geimer, Peter (Ph. D. [art history] Phillips Universität Marburg), at the Institute from March 2001 to March 2004. Area of work: Epistemology and aesthetics of graphical and photographic recordings (around 1900).

Gockel, Bettina (M. A. 1992 [art history] Universität Hamburg; Dr. phil. 1996 Universität Hamburg), at the Institute from April 2002 to July 2003. Area of work: Colour and light in 18th-century arts and sciences; history of perception; history of the relation of art and psychiatry; the avant-garde artist in the system of arts and sciences, 1860s to 1930s.

Hagner, Michael (Staatsexamen 1986 [medicine], Dr. med. 1987 Freie Universität Berlin, habil. 1994 [history of medicine] Georg-August-Universität Göttingen), at the Institute from January 1997 to September 2003. Area of work: Brain research in 19th and 20th centuries; history of science and cultural history.

Heesen, Anke (Dipl. 1990 [cult. pedagogy] Universität Hildesheim, Dr. phil. 1995 [aesthetics and communication] Universität Oldenburg), at the Institute since October 1999. Area of work: newspaperclippings and their status as information and visual fragment in the sciences and arts around 1900; note-taking-practices; history of (natural history-) collections and exhibitions (18th to 20th Century).

Hoffmann, Dieter (Dipl. 1972 [physics], Dr. phil. 1976 Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, Dr. habil. 1989 [history of science] Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, apl. Prof. 2003 Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin), at the Institute since December 1995. Area of work: History of physics in the 19th and 20th centuries, esp. institutional history of quantum theory and modern metrology; history of science in the GDR.

Kant, Horst (Dipl. 1969 [physics], Dr. rer. pol. 1973 [history & philosophy of science] Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin), at the Institute since October 1995. Area of work: History of physics in the 19th and 20th centuries (esp. atomic physics and institutional and social aspects).

Kern, Hartmut (M. A. 1988 [philosophy] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute since December 2001. Area of work: Information technology project.

Kleeberg, Bernhard (Dr. phil. 2002 [history] Universität Konstanz), at the Institute since September 2003. Area of work: Emergence and transformations of the concept of raising the standard of living: cyclical and progressive concepts within different areas of knowledge (economic theory, moral philosophy, political and social practices), ca. 1750–1900.

Klein, Ursula (Dr. phil. 1993, habil. 2000 [philosophy] Universität Konstanz), at the Institute as director of an independent research group since July 1998. Area of work: History and philosophy of laboratory sciences.

Lefèvre, Wolfgang (Dr. phil. 1971 [philosophy], habil. 1977 [philosophy in connection with history of science] Freie Universität Berlin, apl. Professor [philosophy] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute since July 1994. Area of work: History of science in connection with history of philosophy on the basis of social history; sciences in Greek antiquity; early modern physics and chemistry; history of biology (15th–18th centuries).

Maroldt, Jean (ingénieur [electronics and nuclear physics] ENSEM, Nancy, PhD [applied mathematics] Université Henri Poincaré, Nancy), at the Institute as research scholar since May 2002. Area of work: Project “ECHO”.

McLaughlin, Peter (Dr. phil. 1986 [philosophy] Freie Universität Berlin, habil. 1998 [philosophy] Universität Konstanz), on the staff of the Institute from January 2000 to March 2003. Guest from July to October 2003. Area of work: History of mechanics, history and philosophy of biology, project “Archimedes”.

Müller-Wille, Staffan (Dipl. 1992 [palaeontology] Freie Universität Berlin, Dr. 1997 [philosophy] Universität Bielefeld), at the Institute since December 2000. Area of work: The structural turn in genetics and anthropology 1880–1950.

Neffe, Jürgen (Dipl. 1983 [biology], Dr. rer. nat. 1985 [biochemistry]), at the Institute from August to December 2002 and since October 2003. Area of work: Einstein exhibition project.

Pietsch, Annik (Diplom 1988 [biochemistry] Freie Universität Berlin, B. A. 1990 [history of art] Technische Universität Berlin), at the Institute since July 1999. Area of work: Binding media. Painting techniques in art, science, and industry in 18th and 19th century Germany.

Popplow, Marcus (Dr. phil. 1997 [history] Universität Bremen), at the Institute as research scholar from May 2001 to April 2002. Area of work: Early modern engineering technology.

Presas i Puig, Albert (Dr. phil. 1995 [history of science] Technische Universität Berlin), at the Institute January and February 2003 and since May 2003. Area of work: Scientific relationship between Germany and Spain: Science, technological transfer, and international policy in the 20th century.

Renn, Jürgen (Dipl. 1983 [physics] Freie Universität Berlin, Dr. rer. nat. 1987 [mathematics] Technische Universität Berlin), at the Institute since March 1994. Area of work: History of early modern mechanics, history of relativity theory; interaction between cognitive and contextual factors in the history of science.

Rheinberger, Hans-Jörg (M. A. 1973 [philosophy], Dipl. 1979 [biology], Dr. rer. nat. 1982, habil. 1987 [molecular biology] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute since January 1997. Area of work: Epistemology of experimentation.

Rieger, Simone (M. A. 1998 [linguistics and philosophy] Technische Universität Berlin), at the Institute since February 1999. Area of work: Project “ECHO”.

Roesler-Friedenthal, Antoinette (M. A. 1994, Dr. phil. 1999 [art history] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute from March 1999 to March 2002. Area of work: Self-portraits and images of the artist in the Italian renaissance.

Schemmel, Matthias (Dipl. 1997 [physics], Universität Hamburg), at the Institute since January 1998. Area of work: History of relativity theory, history of early modern mechanics, history of Chinese science.

Schmidgen, Henning (Dipl. 1990 [psychology], Dr. phil. 1996 [psychology], M. A. 1997 [philosophy] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute since March 1997. Area of work: Chronos and Psyche: The history of psychophysiological time measuring experiments, 1850–1914.

Schnöpf, Markus (M. A. 2001 [history, history of medicine] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute as research scholar since 2001. Area of work: Project “Archimedes”, Projecto Humboldt.

Schoepflin, Urs (Dipl. 1975 [sociology] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute as director of the library since September 1994. Area of work: Scientific information systems, scientific communication, sociology and history of science, scientometrics.

Schüller, Volkmar (Dr. rer. nat. 1972 [physics] Universität Greifswald); research assistant Universität Greifswald (1972–1976), at the Institute since September 1994. Area of work: History of mathematics and physics (16th and 17th centuries).

Sibum, H. Otto (Dr. rer. nat. 1989 [physics] Carl von Ossietzky Universität Oldenburg; habil. 2001 [history of science and technology] Technische Universität Carolo-Wilhelmina zu Braunschweig), at the Institute since October 1995. Area of work: History of the physical sciences (17th until 20th century), particularly history of experience and experiment, embodiment of knowledge, material culture of science, precision measurement.

Steinle, Friedrich (Dipl. 1982 [physics], Dr. rer. nat. 1990 [history of science] Universität Tübingen, Privatdozent 2000 [history and philosophy of science] Technische Universität Berlin), at the Institute from October 1997 to March 1998 and since August 1999. Area of work: Experiment and concept formation – Charles Dufay and the two electricities.

Vidal, Fernando (A. B. 1981 Harvard University; M. A. 1984 [psychology] University of Geneva; M. A. 1986 [history and philosophy of science] University of Paris I – Sorbonne; Ph. D. 1988 University of Geneva), at the Institute as research scholar since September 2000. Area of work: History of psychology and anthropology, 16th–20th centuries. The self and the body in the Christian tradition. Historicizing “brainhood” (the self as brain). Miracles as epistemic things.

Vogt, Annette (Diplom 1975, Dr. rer. nat. 1986 [mathematics] Karl-Marx-Universität Leipzig), at the Institute since September 1994. Area of work: Women in science at the Berlin University and in the Kaiser-Wilhelm-Gesellschaft, 1900–1945.

Wahsner, Renate (Dipl. 1961, Dr. phil. 1966 [philosophy] Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, Dr. sc. 1978 [philosophy] Akademie der Wissenschaften der DDR, professor 1987 [history of science] Akademie der Wissenschaften der DDR), at the Institute since October 1995. Area of work: History of philosophy in connection with history of science; epistemological fundamentals and problems of physics; German idealism; classical natural philosophy.

Wintergrün, Dirk (Dipl. 1998 [physics] Technische Universität Berlin), at the Institute since January 2000. Area of work: Information technology project.

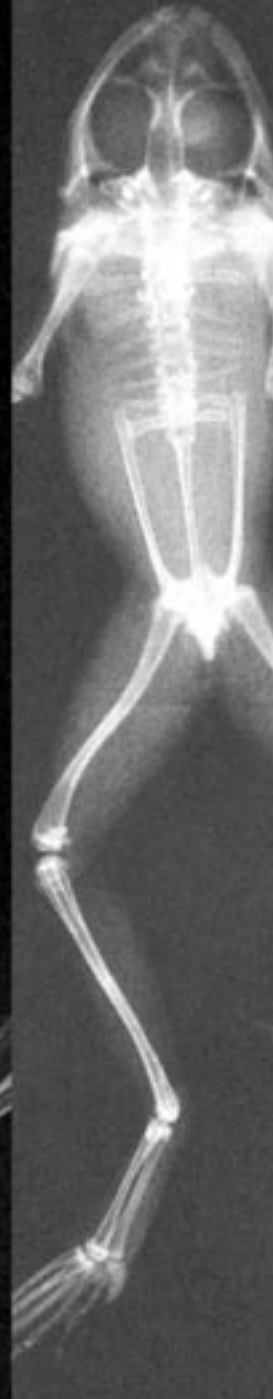

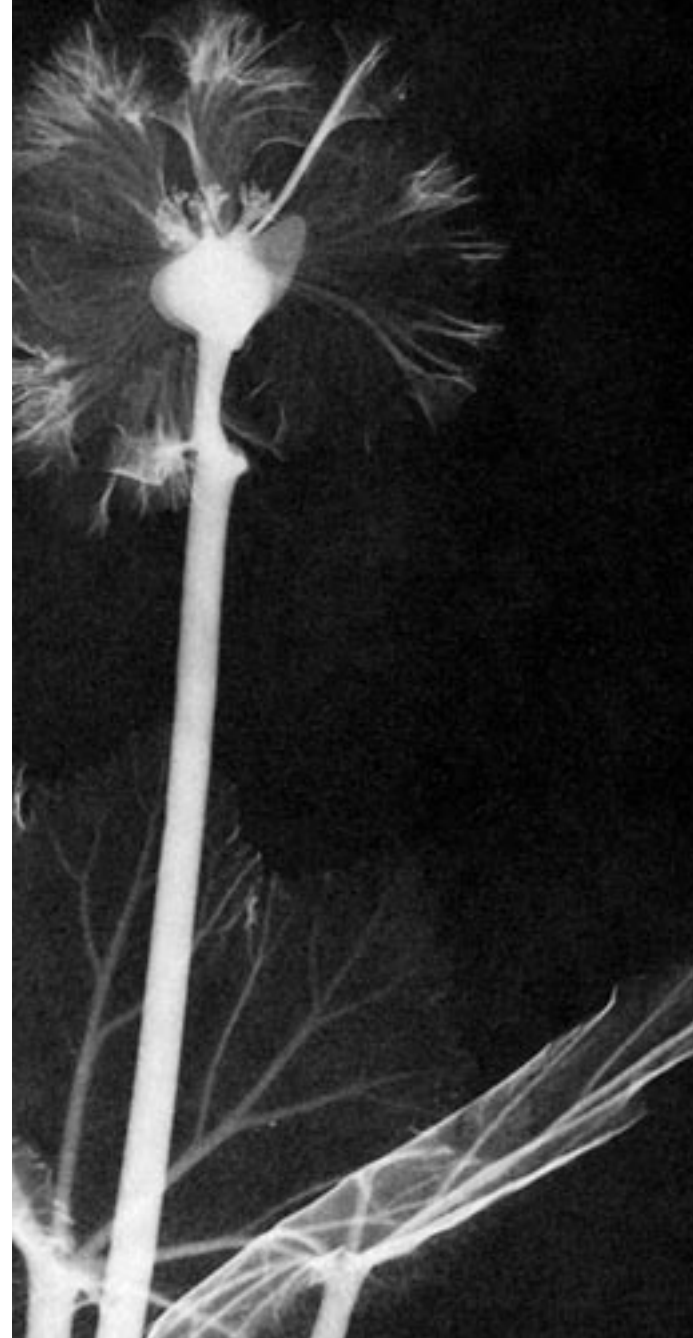

Wunderlich, Falk (M. A. 1995 [philosophy] Freie Universität Berlin, Dr. phil. 2002 [philosophy] Freie Universität Berlin), at the Institute as research scholar from January to June 2002. Area of work: The philosophical integration of classical sciences.

Visiting Scholars and Research Fellows

Prof. Dr. Mohamed Abattouy (Visiting Scholar, Université M. Ben Abdellah, Fes, Morocco, August 15 – December 31, 2002 and July 1 – November 30, 2003): The arabic transformation of mechanics.

Dr. Oscar Joao Abdounur (Lorenz Krüger Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Universidade de Sao Paulo, Sao Paulo, Brazil, October 1, 1999 – February 28, 2002, July 4 – August 2, 2002, January 20 – February 16, 2003): Harmony and the theories of ratios in mathematics and music.

Dr. Tara Abraham (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, October 1, 2002 – June 30, 2004): Theoretical methods in studies of the nervous system, 1930 – 1950.

Prof. Dr. Daniel Alexandrov (Visiting Scholar, European University at St. Petersburg, Russia, September 1 – September 30, 2002): Historical sociology of life sciences: social lifeforms and intellectual fields.

Dr. Gadi Algazi (Visiting Scholar, Tel Aviv University, Israel, July 15 – August 31, 2003): Making visible the invisible: Norbert Elias sociology.

Nancy Anderson (Rathenau Postdoctoral Research Fellow, October 1, 2002 – September 30, 2004): Organic/Digital/Cinematic/Electronic: Transgenic fluorescence and computer technologies in imaging live cells.

Dr. David Aubin (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Princeton University, New Jersey, USA, March 1, 2001 – August 31, 2002): History of astronomy, chaos and mathematical modeling, history of helium.

Dr. Monika Baár (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, September 1, 2003 – August 31, 2005): Nationalism and nineteenth-century historiography in Europe (Project: Knowledge and Belief).

Daniela Barberis (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, October 15, 2000 – October 14, 2002): The Durkheimian group and biologically based models for the human sciences.

Dr. Antonio Becchi (Visiting Scholar, Dipartimento di Scienze per l'Architettura, Università di Genova, Italy, May 15, 2002 – September 30, 2003): Epistemic history of architecture.

Silvia Berger (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Schweizerischer Nationalfonds, Collegium Helveticum, ETH Zürich, Switzerland, October 1, 2002 – April 30, 2003): The war on germs. Metaphor circulation between science and politics, 1914 – 18.

Dr. Charlotte Bigg (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Cambridge, UK, November 1, 2001 – February 29, 2004): Visual representations in science; astronomy, spectroscopy, brownian motion.

Prof. Ann Blair (Visiting Scholar, Department of History, Harvard University, Cambridge, USA, June 1 – June 30, 2003): Sixteenth-century encyclopedism and the category of the fact (Project: Historia).

Catherine Blais (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Boston University, Massachusetts, USA, March 1 – March 31, 2002): The model of the artist as curator in contemporary art (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Daniela Bleichmar (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Princeton University, New Jersey, USA, June 1 – July 5, 2002): Natural history illustration, 16th – 18th centuries; colonial European-Latin American interactions (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Prof. Dr. David Bloor (Visiting Scholar, University of Edinburgh, UK, July 1 – August 31, 2002, July 1 – August 31, 2003 and October 1, 2003 – March 31, 2004): Theories of the aerofoil 1900 – 1926.

Prof. Dr. Marie-Noëlle Bourguet (Visiting Scholar, Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, Université de Paris 7, France, October 13, 2003 – May 15, 2004): Alexander von Humboldt's voyage to Italy (Project: Knowledge and Belief).

Prof. Dr. Robert Brain (Visiting Scholar, Department of the History of Science, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, February 1 – June 30, 2003): Romanticism and the sciences.

PD Dr. Sonja Brentjes (Visiting Scholar, Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft, Johann Wolfgang Goethe-Universität Frankfurt/Main, August 1 – September 13, 2002): Ottoman mapmaking in late 17th and early 18th centuries in the works of Hajji Khalifa and Abu Bakr al-Dinashqi.

Shana Brown (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Department of History, University of California, Berkeley, USA, January 1 – March 30, 2002): What price history? Chinese antiquarianism and the commercial economy, 1870 – 1928.

Dr. Matthias Bruhn (Visiting Scholar, May 6 – September 30, 2002): Project "ECHO".

Dipl. Phys. Jochen Büttner (Predoctoral Research Fellow, July 1, 2001 – June 30, 2004): The reconstruction of the conceptual development of Galileo's theory of motion.

Prof. Mary Baine Campbell (Visiting Scholar, Brandeis University, Waltham, Massachusetts, USA, September 1 – December 31, 2003): The epistemology of dreams in early modern England and France (Project: Knowledge and Belief).

Dr. Jimena Canales (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, August 15–September 15, 2003): Individual differences in observation and reaction time in nineteenth-century astronomy.

Dr. Michael Carhart (Lorenz Krüger Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Rutgers University, New Jersey, USA, October 1, 2001–June 30, 2002 and May 15–August 15, 2003): “The Old Cultural History” – anthropology and philology in the 18th century explaining the progress of humanity from the primitive state to enlightenment.

Deborah Coen (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Department of the History of Science, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, October 1, 2001–January 31, 2002): The most probable state: The science of uncertainty in imperial Austria (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Prof. Harry M. Collins (Visiting Scholar, Cardiff School of Social Sciences, Cardiff University, UK, April 21–May 19, 2002): Tacit knowledge.

Prof. Dr. Chiara Crisciani (Visiting Scholar, Dipartimento di Filosofia, Università Pavia, Italy, June 1–June 30, 2003): Medicine and historia in late medieval Ferrara (Project: Historia).

Dr. John J. Dettloff (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Princeton University, New Jersey, USA, July 1, 1999–September 30, 2003): Chemistry in the garden, the arsenal, and the academy (France: 1750–1800).

Erika J. Dirkse (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Marshall Fund, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, USA, December 1, 2002–February 28, 2003): Geological knowledge, political economy, and the making of expertise in economic geology, 1815–1850.

Dr. Jeroen van Dongen (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, February 1, 2003–January 31, 2004): History of black hole theory.

Mari Dumett (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Boston University, Massachusetts, USA, February 1–March 31, 2002): Some assembly required: Fluxus performance and the laboring subject (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Dr. Sven Dupré (Visiting Scholar, Vakgroep Wijsbegeerte en Moraalwetenschap, Universiteit Gent, Belgium, October 1, 2002–September 30, 2003): The camera obscura, the telescope, and visual representation.

Prof. Dr. Circe Mary Silva da Silva Dynnikov (Visiting Scholar, Universidade Federal do Espírito Santo, Vitória, Brazil, November 1–November 30, 2002): The role played by the mathematicians in the reception of the theory of relativity in Brazil.

Dr. Matthew D. Eddy (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, University of Durham, UK, March 21–April 28, 2003): Joseph Black and the chemistry of the ‘earth’: The nascent earth sciences in enlightenment Edinburgh.

Josh Martin Ellenbogen (Predoctoral Research Fellow, January 1–July 31, 2002): Learning to see: Photography and the education of the eye in 19th-century France (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Karen Encarnacion (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst, October 1, 2002–January 31, 2004): Visual experience in the 16th century – anatomy and midwifery texts (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Prof. Rand B. Evans (Visiting Scholar, Volkswagenstiftung, East Carolina University, Greenville, USA, July 1–August 31, 2002): Time production instruments.

Uljana Feest (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, October 1, 2003–September 30, 2005): The relationship between the emergence of gestalt psychology and philosophy of science in Germany in the 1910s and 1920s.

Philipp Felsch (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Volkswagenstiftung, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, February 1, 2002–January 31, 2005): Laboratory landscapes. The alps as medium of physiology around 1900.

Dr. Dr. Erna Fiorentini (Visiting Scholar, Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft/SFB 1957 “Aesthetic Experience and the Dissolution of Artistic Limits”, Institut für Kunstgeschichte, Freie Universität Berlin, January 1, 2003–December 31, 2004): Protomodern observers and the camera lucida (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Dr. Eric Francoeur (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Centre de Sociologie de l’Innovation, École Normale Supérieure des Mines, Paris, France, May 1, 1999–December 31, 2002): Computer modeling – molecular graphics (1960s onward).

Prof. Dr. Tibor Frank (Visiting Scholar, Winner of the Humboldt Research Award, Eötvös Loránd Tudományegyetem, Budapest, September 1, 2003–August 31, 2004): German-Hungarian connections in science and culture, 1919–1945.

Prof. Dr. Gideon Freudenthal (Visiting Scholar, The Cohn Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Ideas, Tel-Aviv University, Israel, August 1–August 31, 2002, January 1–January 31 and July 1–July 31, 2003): Editing Henryk Grossmann’s book: Descartes’ New Science.

Prof. Dr. Alan Gabbey (Visiting Scholar, Department of Philosophy, Barnard College, Columbia University, New York City, USA, August 15–October 31, 2003): The mechanical philosophy and its problems.

Prof. Dr. Peter Galison (Visiting Scholar, Max Planck Research Award Winner, Department of the History of Science and Department of Physics, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, August 14, 2001–August 13, 2002): Theories as machines; images of objectivity (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Dr. Claire Gantet (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Centre de Recherches d'Histoire Moderne, Université de Paris I, France, September 1, 2003 – August 31, 2005): Knowledge about dreams in the holy Roman empire, c. 1500 – c. 1750 (Project: Knowledge and Belief).

Dr. Delphine Gardey (Visiting Scholar, Alexander-von-Humboldt-Stiftung, Centre de Recherche en Histoire des Sciences et des Techniques (CRHST), Paris, France, September 1, 2003 – August 31, 2004): The female body and technoscience in the West during the 20th century.

Prof. Dr. Rodolphe Gasché (Visiting Scholar, University of Buffalo, USA, June 15 – July 31, 2003): E. Husserl's concept of science.

Dr. Jean-Paul Gaudillière (Visiting Scholar, Centre de Recherche Médecine, Science, Santé et Société (CERMES-INSERM), Villejuif, France, July 1, 2000 – July 31, 2002): Production and uses of animal models; aspects of the history of biological research within the German pharmaceutical industry during the 1930s–1950s.

Prof. Dr. Mark Geller (Visiting Scholar, Alexander-von-Humboldt-Stiftung, Department of Hebrew and Jewish Studies, University College London, UK, June 1 – August 31, 2002): Babylonian medicine.

Dr. Zae Young Ghim (Visiting Scholar, Korea Science and Engineering Foundation, Science Culture Research Center, Research Institute for Basic Sciences, Seoul National University, Korea, November 1, 2002 – October 30, 2004): History of quantum field theory in 1930s.

Prof. Dr. Anthony Grafton (Visiting Scholar, Department of History, Princeton University, New Jersey, USA, June 1 – June 30, 2003): Historia in the 'artes historicae' of the sixteenth century (Project: Historia).

Dr. Birgit Griesbeck (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, August 1, 1999 – April 30, 2003): On trial. Intercultural aspects of experimental reason in 'essayism'.

Thomas O. Haakenson (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Fulbright Program, Department of Cultural Studies and Comparative Literature, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities, USA, September 1, 2002 – July 31, 2004): The uncultured eye: Scientific knowledge, visual culture, and German national policy from 1871 to 1933 (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Orit Halpern (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Department of the History of Science, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, September 1, 2001 – January 31, 2002): Archives and race: Technologies of difference in bioinformatics and genomics (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Jaimey Hamilton (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Boston University, Massachusetts, USA, March 1 – March 31, 2002): Postwar assemblage and the use of the found object in European and US art (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Dr. Kristen Haring (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Department of the History of Science, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, October 1, 2003 – May 31, 2004): Technical identity in post-World War II America (Project: Knowledge and Belief).

Dr. Jonathan Harwood (Visiting Scholar, August 2002, April, July, August 2003): The technologist's dilemma: Agricultural sciences between theory and practice in Germany 1860–1934. The origins of technoscience.

PD Dr. Volker Hess (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Liechtenstein Fonds for the History of Science, Institut für Geschichte der Medizin, FB Humanmedizin, Universitätsklinikum Benjamin Franklin, Freie Universität Berlin, April 1, 2001 – March 31, 2002): Experimental physiology in the realm of clinical knowledge between 1850 and 1870.

Dr. Elfrieda Hiebert (Visiting Scholar, April 1 – April 30, 2002): Science and music entwined – late 19th century. Piano construction, technique and composition.

Prof. Dr. Erwin N. Hiebert (Visiting Scholar, Department of the History of Science, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA, April 1 – April 30, 2002): Physics, mathematics, and perception and the problem of intonation in the construction of novel keyboards.

Dafna Hirsch (Predoctoral Research Fellow, Tel Aviv University, Israel, May 1 – May 31, 2002): "We Are Here to Bring the West": The inculcation of hygiene within the Jewish community in colonial Palestine.

Sabine Höhler (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, July 1, 1999 – June 30, 2002): Great expectations: Meteorology, oceanography, and the frontiers of space after 1900.

Dr. Christoph Hoffmann (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft, Europa-Universität Frankfurt/Oder, October 1, 2001 – June 30, 2004): appareil du sens – concepts of the human senses in scientific observations between 1750 and 1830.

Dr. Jarita Holbrook (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Center for Cultural Studies of Science, Technology, and Medicine, Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles, USA, February 1 – March 20, 2002): Celestial navigation and technology in Fiji, Tunisia, and the United States. History of astronomy in non-western societies.

Dr. Christoph F. E. Holzhey (Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Columbia University, New York, USA, September 1, 2001 – August 31, 2003): Models in art und science around 1800 (Project: Common Languages of Art and Science).

Dr. Ernst Homburg (Visiting Scholar, Universiteit Maastricht, The Netherlands, February 24 – June 8, 2002): History of DSM chemical company, especially fertilizer and research departments.

Dr. Giora Hon (Visiting Scholar, Alexander-von-Humboldt-Stiftung, Department of Philosophy, University of Haifa, Israel, July 1 – September 30, 2002 and July 1 – September 30, 2003): Concept formation, experiment and error.
